

New Surface Resistance Test Kit

Measures Temperature and Humidity

Desco's new Surface Resistance Test Kit is a portable, accurate, and versatile instrument to measure RTG and RTT in accordance with ANSI EOS/ESD S4.1 & S7.1. It also measures ambient temperature and relative humidity when required for test records. It is easy to use and read using the color coded LED and digital LCD read-outs.

Features also include:

- Resistance exponent LED illuminates immediately for quick checks.
- Full S4.1 electrification period and accurate for test lab use.
- Meter will test at 10 volts and automatically switch to 100 volts if over 10⁵ ohms.
- Measure ESD worksurfaces, floor, footwear, smocks, or workstations.

Sign up for an ESD Survey, and receive a Jewel Mini Monitor

AT NO CHARGE!

Are you wasting the money you spend on ESD control?

Are you scheduled for an ISO audit in the near future?

Would you like to try continuous monitoring instead of periodic testing?

If you answered yes to any question, then request an ESD Survey to be performed by a factory-certified ESD specialist. Just register on the Desco website at: www.desco.com/jewelsurvey.htm and schedule a no-cost professional ESD Survey. And just for allowing us to perform the survey, we will send you a new Jewel™ Continuous Mini Monitor (a $100 value).

The Jewel™ Mini Monitor continuously monitors the integrity of one operator and an ESD protective work surface's discharge path to ground. The Monitor will provide virtually instantaneous notification of static control equipment failures, eliminating the need of periodic testing and costly record keeping. This unit is highly cost effective as it is designed to monitor any conventional single conductor wrist strap and ground cord system. There are no additional wires to connect and its small package makes it highly suitable to install on a worksurface. And since it is a Jewel™, it is available in your choice of 5 colors - Sapphire, Ruby, Topaz, Emerald, and Amethyst.
